The arrivals from fireign parts the past week have been the Helm W. Almy, from Sydney via Tahiti, with 125 tons coal; the Mattie Mariney, from Portland, with Oregon produce; and the Queen Elema, from San Francisco, with assert-ed cargo. The latter brought the freight for this port which the steamer Cyphrenes would have had, if her freight room had not all been taken up with through cargo. These three backs will be found advertised for return curposs.

We pullink below the expert table prepared by Ool. Allen, the details of which will be found interesting, giving swidress, notwithstanding the low price of our produce abroad. The total sugar export for six months has been cently sixteen milities of pounds,—a gain of over two millines as compared with the same time in 1872. Should the bet half of the current year show a curresponding expert as in 1872, the total will exceed awarty-five millions of pounds -which has been the estimate for the year as made by the most reliable judges.

The value of our expects also shows a gain, but this is not wholly reliable, as many shipments are invoiced at more than they realize. So long as they are made on plantation or produring account, this can not well be avoided. Actual sales on the majo senterion of the value of produce.

Obstracy.

This community experienced a painful shock on the morning of the left and, when informed of the scalden density of Mrs. Election, the wife of our fellow bownsman Hon. Godfrey Rhadon. This lady was highly cultured, and had a most kindly and headeant influence on our society. Although in the automa of life, her material viewing of spirit and kindliness of nature had not wated. She was the standing friend of all who once gained her confidence, and many each moorn her has. Buring nearly twonty-six years of faithful and loving devotion to her husband, she filled such a space in his life that her absence must have an aching well fit his best which only another and priver state of existence can fill. This community deeply deployes the departure of this help. Her remains were attented at mass in the Calbolic Osthedral, and there to the Cometary by the Chancellor of the Kingdom, by members of His Majordy's Ministry and the Home of Nobles and other goe tensor as pall beavers, also by a large sumber of deeply syngusthisting friends.

THE FOURTH OF JULY-passed off with no public display of any kind. Indeed it was as quiet a holiday as was ever witnessed in this or any other coun try. One thing was evident, that Americans have either lost some of their patriotism, or they are keeping their powder dry for a grand display on the centennial anniversary in 1876. The American Minister kept open house on the Fourth, and entertained with a sumptuous dinner all who honored him with THEADWAY — at Labama, Mani, or Theoday, June 20, of conjective of the lange, Mrs. Sally Trondway, widow of the late Poter II. Hawaiian Journalism.

Ms. Eptron:-I have read the Advertiser of to-day (July 4th), and confess that I am somewhat ashamed of Hawalian journalism. The opening sentence of the "leader" on the "Loan Bill," is one of those miserable, self-sufficient, "Great I Am " expressions that prominent small minds use as stock in trade. Let me quote it: "As we observed in our last issue, the fact that our neighbor throws cold water on the project of the loan encourages us to believe that nearly if not quite everybody else will favor it."

Before proceeding farther, let me ask your readers to picture to themselves the "We" of to be engrossed. the Advertiser, and mentally analyze them (1 came near writing it) and then formularize the result. If the conclusion is not that the elements most largely predominating are of an aqueous and guseous nature, then I have misinterpreted the expressions of opinion of some very good

Exception is taken to the reasonable doubt as to the honesty of the designers of the bill, and to frighten you and those whom you may influence, a little stage effect is tried in putting for- or a lunch for the members of the House, also, that ward His Majesty as the mover of the measure. Then, with accustomed servility, we are given to understand that if His Majesty is the prime mover of the bill, it must be a good measure. The doctrine of the infallibility of a mere human is set forward as a dictum not to be contradicted.

Again, who so stoutly defended the dogma that the King is not responsible for the policy of the administration; that the ministers are alone responsible? The volatile Advertiser-who now so readily puts the person of His Majesty forward as the keight ready to run a tilt with any one who questions the virtue of this scheme to raise the wind. For myself, I am free to say that I should question the solvency of any one supporting this scheme. The person or persons whose mind should inculcate such a plan, must be excoolingly troubled for ready cash,-a veritable Jeremy Diddler.

To me, the bill is a very cave of Adullam, if I may use the metaphor, and those who seek its shelter may be likened to the class who were wont to congregate in that cave. The bill is, and should be, known as Hon. Mr. Kipi's. It is unfair to charge the ministry with sympathy for it until some act or word shows their leanings, much less to saddle it upon His Majesty, who may or may not have read it.

It is true that His Majesty in a message supports the idea of a loan, so do many others; but may not the ministry have a bill in reserve that will supplant Mr. Kipi's? Assuming that the bill is Mr. Kipi's, I am disposed to deal leniently with it as the first effort in its way of a worthy native. This is Mr. Kipi's first attempt at legis lation on so weighty a subject as that of public -The Narragansett, Capt. Dewcy, had also arriv- finance. He has doubtless wrestled with it in an agony of mind, and it is very evident that the subject has mastered him. Parturient montes et -The Portsmouth, at Mare Island may yard, will nascitur mus!

On the rum bill the we say that " we are as earnest and zealous as any one on the temperance question." Well-perhaps so; but I may be excused if I say that we have a strange way of showing it. It is possible, of course, that we are to the we whose example is consistent with his precept. Take the oral and written opinion of we on most any public question, and one would be puzzled to know where we stands. Wa's opinion is mixed, or, as the vermeular more nice-They are most generally "found astride the fence" until we see the side that is most thickly popu In Mr. A. S. Giegborn has shown us a new fruit lated, or that offers the largest amount of bread and batter and sugar, when we clausily dismount. Ws are not gluttons, but inclined to be epicurean

Soberly ask yourself, reader, whether the Adrertiser's we does not oftener express purchased rather than public opinion, and govern yourself as a good citizen should.
